Good Artists Copy Great Artists Steal: Degas and Late Twentieth-Century British Paintings

Tutor: Ian Ellis

'Take What You Need' from exploring the works of Degas and Late Twentieth-Century British Paintings. This painting course examines how the work of Edgar Degas influenced late 20th-century British art, from the abstract paintings of Howard Hodgkin to the vivid, human-animal compositions of Francis Bacon.

Day 1: We will explore Degas's approach to painting, which was grounded in the French Academy's principles—such as "learn to paint like Velázquez, then find your own way." We'll discuss how an understanding of these techniques shaped the work of later British artists. You will be asked to select and study a Degas painting, with demonstrations to deepen your understanding.

Day 2: You'll create small-scale studies based on portrait photographs and images of ballet dancers and bathers. The concepts discussed on Day 1 will be applied to your own work.
